

Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Home School Support Bulletin

Quote of the week

"Sometimes, every step you take is a victory" – Charles Mackesy

Remote Learning

A huge well done to all students for how you have settled into 'Live' lessons and online learning. You have been fantastic so far!

If you are having any issues with uploading your work to firefly, accessing your work or completing it remember there is always someone here to help.

Guide to remote learning:

<http://staindropacademy.com/remote-learning-guide/>

Uploading/Submitting Work:

<https://helpcentre.fireflylearning.com/students/tasks/submitting-work>

Keep communicating!

Communication isn't just about talking; it's about listening to others or following written instructions too. Here are 3 ideas to keep up your communication skills over the next week:

- Find a recipe, follow the instructions and create your masterpiece.
- Write short notes to your family to tell them what it is you appreciate about them.
- If you have Lego at home, create a build then instruct a family member on how to build it and observe them doing it.

Reflection

Reflect on the day with your child and identify two things that they feel have been a success and one thing that has been a struggle or they want to improve (this could be a specific lesson, a task or a skill).

By recognising the positives, it will help to boost their confidence and engagement, and make it more likely that they will share information with their teachers when they are struggling.

Contact Us

We do understand that there may be some issues that arise from remote learning and want to reassure you that we are here to support our parents and students as much as possible.

Should you need to contact us about anything SEND related, please contact the department at:

send@staindropschool.com

Supporting Learning at Home

We're all adapting to new ways of working currently, so here's our top tips for how you can support learning at home:

- Try to establish a daily routine
- Balance your online versus offline time
- Get outside!
- Have confidence in yourself
- If you're struggling with anything, speak to someone: parents, teachers, form tutors, friends
- Stay Positive!

